1941 Report

LAST YEAR the Home cared for 374 children from infancy to 12 years of age. There was a daily average of 59 patients, and an average stay of two months.

Children are accepted for convalescent care when acute illness is over and home conditions are inadequate. More than one-third of the patients received free care, and most of the others paid a nominal rate.

PHYSICAL THERAPY treatments — 2,369 in all, were given to 74 patients during 1941.

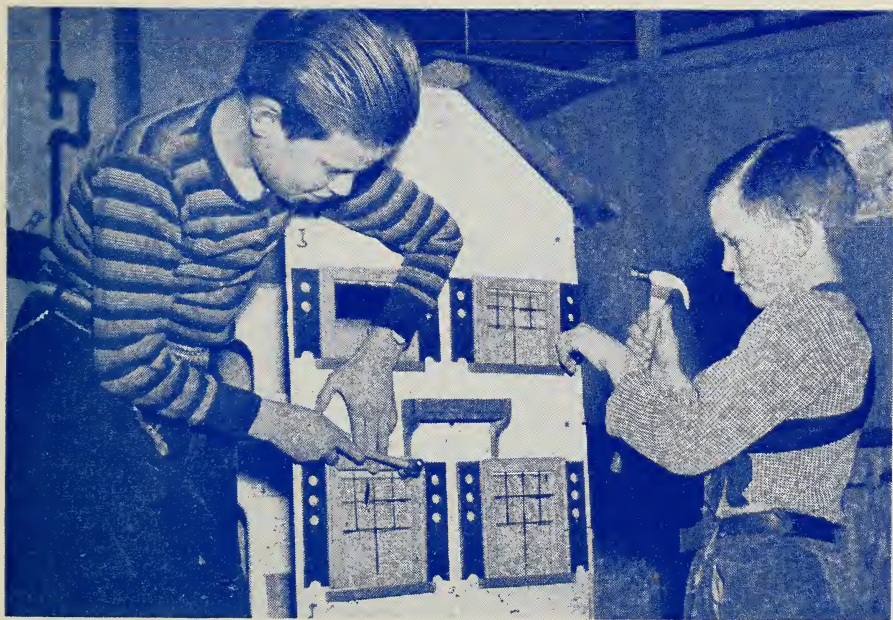

LESSONS GO ON—Daily classroom and bedside instruction from the first through the eighth grade was given the children by two trained teachers.

BUSY HANDS AID RECOVERY—A trained occupational therapist assisted by volunteers, many from the Junior Service League of Wellesley, carried out a constructive program. Guided by our Medical Resident's recommendations, based on each child's needs, they helped the patients make a variety of attractive, useful gifts from scrap materials.

You are cordially invited to visit the Home on Forest Street in Wellesley Hills, a mile off the Turnpike, Route 9, from Boston.

PLAY HOURS—As part of the recreational program the children have opportunities to learn active and quiet games, to enjoy good music, story telling, reading, and simple forms of handcraft.

SCHOOL FOR NURSERYMAIDS—On completion of the one-year course, 21 young women were graduated from the School, and all were immediately placed in private families.

The Home is a member of the Greater Boston United War Fund and welcomes your support. It is entirely separate from The Children's Hospital, and receives no financial aid from it.
